

FREE UNC School of Social Work Virtual Event!

Words Matter: Learning to Speak about Addiction and Harm Reduction and the Faith Community

Friday, November 19, 2021 | 9–11 a.m.

Featured Speakers:

Dr. Robyn Jordan, Medical Director, UNC Addiction Medicine Program and Medical Director, UNC Alcohol and Substance Abuse Program

Reverend Michelle Mathis, Executive Director, Olive Branch Ministry and President, NC Harm Reduction Coalition

This workshop will educate students, field instructors, clinicians, community and academic partners about:

1. The impacts of COVID-19 on the Opioid Epidemic
2. Non-stigmatizing language to use when discussing substance use with patients
3. The relevance of substance use during adolescence
4. The Harm Reduction Model

Attendance is free and CE (1.75) credit is available.

Registration is required. ZOOM link will be sent to registrants the day before the event.

This event is sponsored by UNC-PrimeCare-ODU, a HRSA funded program.

go.unc.edu/WordsMatter

You may be prompted to create an account to register.

For more information

Meryl Kanfer, LCSW, mkanfer@unc.edu

Information about UNC-PrimeCare-ODU

uncprimecare.sites.unc.edu

